REPORT OF PINKHAM NOT PUBLIC PROPERTY

Governor Carter Says the Public Did Not Pay For the Document and Talks About Secrecy.

"I do not regard the Pinkham report as a public document," said Governor Carter yesterday. "The public is not paying for it."

The statement was made in the course of a talk with the Governor relative to the publication in an afternoon paper charging, in effect, that the Governor, in making the statement that he was not responsible for the secrecy that had attended the work of the Pinkham Commission, had forgotten his own cablegram from Washington to Secretary Atkinson directing that the inquiry should be made, and that it should be a private inquiry.

At first, Governor Carter was not at all inclined to go into the matter of the charge made in the evening paper. "Perhaps," he said, "the less said about that the better."

Then, after a moment of consideration, the Governor said: "There was never a reporter for any of the papers asked me about the Pinkham report. The men who were making up that report, the members of the Commission, came to me and asked me about the advisability of making it public. I asked them, in my turn, when they would be ready, and they told me that it would be finished in ten or twelve days."

"Well, then," I said, "why not wait and give it all to the public at once?"

"So far as my holding anything back is concerned, there was my cablegram to Secretary Atkinson, sent from Rochester. Like all my cablegrams of a public nature, that was a public document. But I did not feel, after the commission had been named, that I should dominate the report. I had selected the labor men to get the truth and the whole truth about labor conditions here. It was not for me to decide whether they should hold open or closed sessions. That was a matter for them to determine themselves. The secrecy of the commission, after it had been formed, was the commissioners' work, and not mine."

"Besides, I do not consider the Pinkham report a public document, anyway. The public is not paying for it."

In the publication of stories coming as an aftermath of the Pinkham report, one of the evening papers claimed that there was a discrepancy between the Governor's published statements relative to the secrecy which had been observed in the compilation of the report, and his cablegram to Secretary Atkinson directing that the report be compiled. The Governor's cablegram was as follows:

"Atkinson, Acting Governor, Honolulu:

"Request Labor and Builders' organizations privately investigate labor and industrial situation appoint Pinkham plan supervise investigation and manage expense."

And this is that portion of the Governor's statements with which the above cablegram is said to be in conflict:

"There is nothing dishonest in our efforts. I cannot agree that publicity is needed for everything and I presume it was largely at the wishes of the members of the Commission that their plans were kept to themselves. They did not take me into their confidence and I do not believe Pinkham has improperly influenced the Commission in its endeavor to get at facts. We all want the truth."

copied requires in this drug approximately 7 grams iodine per 100 cubic centimeters, and the samples showed but as follows: Honolulu Drug Co., 5.8; Benson, Smith & Co., 5.7; Hobron Drug Co., 5.6; Hollister Drug Co., 5.1; Chambers Drug Co., 5.1 grams.

Five samples liquor potassii arsenitis (Fowler's solution) were examined, four of which approached the standard of 1 per cent arsenious acid and one fell considerably below, thus: Benson, Smith & Co., .96; Hollister Drug Co., .95; Hobron Drug Co., .96; Chambers Drug Co., .96; Honolulu Drug Co., .72 per cent.

Four samples tincture ferri chloride were all near the standard of 4.7 per cent metallic iron, thus: Benson, Smith & Co., 4.95; Hollister Drug Co., 4.95; Hobron Drug Co., 5.20; Chambers Drug Co., 4.75.

Four samples unguentum hydrargyri (blue ointment) showed but one approaching the standard of 50 per cent of mercury thus: Hobron Drug Co., 48.9; Benson, Smith & Co., 35.8; Hollister Drug Co., 35.6; Chambers Drug Co., 35.

A sample of boiled beef was found fit for food and a sample of ground coffee not adulterated.

Decomposed and condemned as not fit for food were one lot of 30 cans assorted fruit, one lot of 15 cases miscellaneous Japanese food and one lot of five barrels salt salmon.

One analysis was made in connection with a coroner's inquest.

BEGINS WORK ON MESSAGE

As the time for the opening of the session of the Legislature draws nearer it is borne in upon the executive departments that they must get matters in line for the consideration of the statesmen. The whole clerical force of the Governor's office is already at work on the message in various ways. Preliminary work in getting things in shape for the Governor's use.

Governor Carter himself has not yet begun the actual preparation of the message. In fact, it is doubtful whether the document has even begun to take form in his mind. But he is getting his subjects in line and has already had a night session or two with his office force relative to the document. In all probability there will be more night sessions as time goes on. This is a time when the Governor particularly misses the Secretary of the Territory, who might give him valuable assistance. Nobody, however, has heard from Secretary Atkinson, and there is not a soul in Honolulu who has any idea when he will return from Washington.

Governor Carter announced several days ago that he would have to begin denying himself to callers unless their business was most urgent, would make no more appointments to see people, and would even have to neglect his mail work on the message. However, the Governor has not yet been able to adopt the closed door policy at his office. The Pinkham report and things have made absolutely necessary that he should continue to see people for a few days past.

All the same the message is shaping and no doubt the annual reports of the several heads of departments are likewise. These things must all be ready for the meeting of the Legislature and their preparation is no light task.
